

The Indiana telephone privacy law is sufficient as it is. The unwanted marketing calls I receive have been reduced to less than one or two a month. I am a firm believer in the adage "if it is not broke don't fix it". This is the kind of nonsense that gives credence to the joke that congress has become.